

LEARNING RESOURCES SELECTION

The River East Transcona School Division recognizes that in a democracy, free inquiry is an essential ingredient of education. Therefore, recognizing this responsibility, the River East Transcona School Division subscribes in principle to the provincial department of education position on the selection of learning resources, as well as internationally adopted statements of philosophy from recognized sources such as the Canadian Library Association Statement on Intellectual Freedom, and the American Library Association's Library Bill of Rights. Learning Resources are selected to align with the vision, mission, and beliefs of River East Transcona School Division

In River East Transcona School Division schools, learning resources are selected because they have value and are of interest to the students in the community. Recognizing that the community continues to evolve and change, learning resource selections must be responsive to the current community. Considerations that ensure justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion in learning resources must be included in learning resource selection.
