

Book review

Book title: The Fault in Our Stars.

Date: January 19th 2014.

Author: John Green

Book reviewer: Olivia

Hazel Grace is a teenage girl with thyroid lung cancer. Hazel goes to a cancer support group and bumps into a boy named Augustus Waters who used to have osteosarcoma, they fall in love. Augustus used his cancer wish to go to Amsterdam because he knew how much she'd like that. So Augustus invited Hazel to Amsterdam to meet Peter Van Houten, one of her favourite books authors. Tragic struck, in the middle of the night a few weeks before Amsterdam, Hazel stopped breathing. Her parents rushed her to the hospital, and the doctors thought her going to Amsterdam would not be a good idea, but they found out a way for her to go. They met Peter Van Houten; he was a mean and rude old man who didn't know how much it meant to Hazel to meet him. A few days later Augustus told Hazel that he had cancer which was spreading all over his body and he didn't know if he was going to live. When they went back he wanted Hazel and his close friend to plan out his funeral ahead of time. What will happen next to Augustus, will he make a remarkable recovery? Read the fault in our stars to find out.

Recommendation: I recommend this book to people who like romance or love stories and sad Types of books.

Rate this book: 5/5